MODERN WOODMEN MEET.

Triennial Convention Names Delegates to Head Camp Meeting.

Petersburg, Va., May 8.—The State camp, Modern Woodmen of America, met in triennial session at the Stratford Hotel, this city, Wednesday. The meeting was called to order by W. F. Kirk, of Richmond, State Consul. Immediately after the roll call, to which fifty-nine delegates answered, the appointments of committees was made. A splendid dinner had been spread for the occasion, and after the transaction of urgent business, the delegates, representing every section of the State, proceeded to the spacious dining room for the feast. The banquet was tendered the camp by State Deputy Doubles, of Richmond, and State Medical Director R. A. Gamble, M. D., of this city.

The camp reconvened after dinner and elected the following delegates to the head camp, which meets in Toledo, Ohio, on June 16th: William Evans, of Norfolk; W. P. Addington, of Coburn, and H. B. Justice, of Low Moor.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing Dr. Gamble for reappointment as State medical director for the next three years.

William Treadway, of Catham, was elected State consul, and N. F. Smith, of Fredericksburg, was elected as State clerk. After the decision of the camp to meet in Richmond three years hence, the meeting adjourned until 8:30 o'clock this evening.

KILLED WITH BASEBALL BAT.

Two South Carolina Men Are Brained by Thad E. Turney.

Charlotte, N. C., May 8.—J. K. Wells and Dind Dover were brained with a homemade baseball bat of cedar by Thad E. Turney at the home of Jim Mack, a negro of York county, S. C., Tuesday night about 11:30 o'clock, says a special from Yorkville, S. C., last night. It seems from the evidence, which is hazy, that Wells had Dover mistook the Turneys for revenue officers and fired upon them, their fire being returned, and the deadly bat brought into play. A coroner's jury found that the men were killed by blows from the bat in the hands of Thad E. Turney, who, accompanied by his father, J. E. D. Turney, had left his horse and vehicle at the negro's home and gone fishing in a creek nearby. The Turneys surrendered to officers today, and are in jail at Yorkville.

Thaxton, Va., May 8.—Death came quickly to a burglar here at 11 o'clock Wednesday night when Jas. D. Morgan, a merchant and his son, J. L. Morgan, shot and killed a colored man who had entered their store. The slain man was a stranger about 30 years old. The burglar poked his head out of a window when an accomplice who accompanied him whistled to let him know that they had been observed, and the Morgans fired. The accomplice fled after the father and son had shot at him.

A few weeks ago, according to the evidence, Mrs. Tyson, accompanied by her husband, was walking along Tazewell street near the Wells Theatre, she was assaulted by the Boothe woman, who struck her with her fists and threw her against the wall of the building.

It is said that the Boothe woman has considerable means.

Howes Rob Depot at Warren, Va., and are Caught at Columbia.

Richmond, Va., May 8.—Three unknown men, appearing to be tramps, were cornered on an early Chesapeake and Ohio freight train and held at Columbia, Va., at 6 o'clock yesterday morning for the arrival of officers, on the charge of robbing the depot safe at Warren, Va. Warren is in Albemarle county, on the James River division of the Chesapeake and Ohio, about twenty miles west of Columbia.

The station agent had closed the depot. The men were seen hanging around station, and were supposed to have ridden the rods of No. 11. The safe, weighing 300 pounds, was carried completely out of the depot, which had been broken into and was found empty of $25 in money and all of its railway tickets.

ARMS PARALYZED IN WRECK.

Leroy Roper and Charles H. Cuthbert, Jr., Hurt When Car Overturns.

Petersburg, Va., May 8.—At a late hour Wednesday afternoon while a party, consisting of Leroy Roper, Charles H. Cuthbert, Jr., and Dr. D. D. Wilcox, were motoring along the Richmond and Petersburg turnpike in Mr. Roper's touring car, and in an effort to avoid a mud hole at a point about one and a half miles from the city, the car skidded into some soft earth which had recently been placed beside the road and turned turtle, catching Mr. Cuthbert beneath it.

Dr. Wilcox and Mr. Roper escaped with only a few scratches, but Mr. Cuthbert's face was buried in the mud with the running board of the machine resting across the back of his head, gradually smothering him. With the assistance of passers by, the machine was lifted off of him. He was unconscious and thought to be in a seriously injured condition. Mr. Cuthbert was brought to his home in this city in a short time, and, with the exception of his left arm being paralyzed, he is resting easy.

Mr. Roper's left arm is also paralyzed, but attending physicians think that in both cases the paralysis is only temporary and believe that both young men will be able to be out in a few days.

WILL REVIEW DAMAGE SUIT.

Writ of Error and Supersedeas Granted in Case of Operator Struck by Lightning.

Richmond, May 8.—The State Supreme Court of Appeals has decided to review the evidence in the successful $10,000 damage suit of I. B. Newton, a telegraph operator of Greenville county, against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company for injuries received when lightning struck the switchboard in the railway station at North Emporia in 1913. Newton was awarded a verdict by the jury in the Circuit Court of Greenville county, the jury giving him half of the $20,000 damages he sought to recover.

The Supreme Court granted the railway a writ of error and supersedeas, requiring the posting of a bond of $12,550. William B. McIlwaine and Bernard Mann appeared on the petition for appeal as representatives for the railway.

I. B. Newton, a telephone and telegraph operator on the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad at the station of North Emporia, Greenville county, was sitting in the station there in conversation with a friend during an electrical storm when lightning suddenly struck the switchboard beside them and caused a violent explosion. Newton claims that he received injuries that will permanently disable him. The blinding light and roar is said to have been caused by the explosion of two fuses in the switchboard when touched off by the lightning.

Newton accused the railway of negligence in failing properly to provide ground connections for the lightning arresters designed to prevent lightning from coming in contact with the switchboard. The railway company denies this charge, and counters with the defense that the injuries of which Newton complains are not attributable to the explosion in the station.
